

Program for Young People and Residents with Foreign Roots (2026)

This program is a Japanese language support program for young people aged 15 and over, and residents with foreign roots who wish to learn Japanese for living and working in Japan.

In addition to everyday conversation, students will also learn basic reading and writing skills such as hiragana, katakana, and introductory kanji.

Students can also take conversation classes to obtain information necessary for daily life, as well as employment support classes (Japanese for the workplace, how to write a resume, interview preparation, individual consultations, etc.).

※ All classes are held online.

※ Some classes require the purchase of materials.

※ If you do not have a device for online learning, please contact us (lending may not be available due to limited numbers).
